Hammond Institute Hosts Next Langenberg Speaker Event on May 22, 2019 at MAC-West

Featuring Dr. Marcus Witcher – ‘Getting Right with Reagan: The Struggle to Define True Conservatism, 1980-2016’

WHO: The Hammond Institute for Free Enterprise at Lindenwood University will host its next event of the H. F. Langenberg Memorial Speaker Series in conjunction with the Bastiat Society. Members of the local community, faculty, staff, and students will have an opportunity to participate in this long-standing St. Louis tradition, formerly known as The Discussion Club.

The evening event will feature Dr. Marcus Witcher, Scholar-in-Residence in the History Department, and the Arkansas Center for Research in Economics (ACRE) at the University of Central Arkansas. Dr. Witcher will focus on his new book: ‘Getting Right with Reagan.’ Dr. Rachel Ferguson, director of the Hammond Institute’s Liberty & Ethics Center, and a professor of managerial philosophy at Lindenwood University, will serve as event moderator.

WHAT: Today’s conservatives love Ronald Reagan. At least, they love his legacy. Thirty years ago, though, conservatives weren’t always on board with the man, the president, and his policies. Is today’s Republican Party really the “party of Reagan”? In his new book due out this fall, Marcus Witcher, Ph.D. answers that question and more. ‘Getting Right with Reagan: The Struggle to Define True Conservatism, 1980-2016’ examines the tenuous relationship conservatives have had with the 40th President. The Hammond Institute is a research center at Lindenwood. Its mission is to foster free enterprise and civil and religious liberty through the examination of market-oriented approaches to economic and social issues. This mission is based on the view that limited government, such as that laid out in the Constitutional foundation of the U.S., is a necessary component of a just and prosperous society.
